BREAKING NEWS: PILGRIM KISSINGER ADMITTED TREASON IN 1982

A rare admission from Henry Kissinger (a longtime Pilgrims Society member and vice president ca. 2002-2023) has just come to light from the secret vaults of Chatham House (UK). Chatham House's full name is The Royal Institute of International Affairs. It was founded by the Pilgrims alongside the Council on Foreign Relations. The Chatham House Rule of secrecy was devised there to keep the Pilgrims' secrets. Therefore, it is likely Kissinger never thought his traitorous and fawning admission would ever see the light of day, but here it is:

In my White House incarnation then [as national security adviser], I kept the British Foreign Office better informed and more closely engaged than I did the American State Department. . . In my negotiations over Rhodesia [now Zimbabwe] I worked from a British draft with British spelling even when I did not grasp the distinction between a working paper and a Cabinet-approved document."

Henry A. Kissinger. \(Jul. 07, 1982\) . Reflections on a Partnership: British and American Attitudes to Postwar Foreign Policy, International Affairs, Volume 58, Issue 4, Autumn 1982, Pages 571-587, PDF p. 10. International Affairs, Royal Institute of International Affairs

LILLIAN SCOTT TROY: SHE UNMASKED THE BRITISH PILGRIMS SOCIETY PLOT TO ANNEX AMERICA

by Michael T.
McKibben (Author), Tyla W.
Gabriel (Editor), Dr. Douglas
J. Gabriel (Foreword)

In 1908, twenty-six-year-old journalist Lillian Scott Troy arrived in London expecting to cover a landmark gathering of newspapermen. Strikingly beautiful, fiercely intelligent, and unafraid, she stepped into the First Imperial Press Conference of 1909 and quickly realized the glittering event concealed something far darker. Behind the banquets, speeches, and royal pageantry stood the Pilgrims Society—a secret society of financiers, aristocrats, and press elitists plotting nothing less than the reabsorption of the United States into the British Empire.

Lillian's presence in London's drawing rooms gave her unusual access. Powerful men spoke too freely, underestimating the young American in their midst. With wit and charm as cover, she uncovered the Society's chilling twenty-four-step plan: presidencies controlled, banks capitalized, courts rigged to strip sovereignty, universities infiltrated, histories rewritten, naval officers exchanged, newspapers harnessed, and imperial troops held in readiness to enforce the Crown's will. It was conquest by stealth, a coup without battlefields. Defying threats and smear campaigns, Lillian exposed the scheme in American newspapers, naming both British aristocrats and their American collaborators—Carnegie, Rockefeller, Morgan, Roosevelt, Churchill, Root, Rothschilds. For her courage she was surveilled, hounded, and ultimately deported.
Yet she never fell silent, warning that control of communications was the empire's ultimate weapon: own the story, and you own the people.

Her revelations, later entered into the Congressional Record, echo into our century. Michael T. McKibben, inventor of social networking, discovered his work stolen by Silicon Valley racketeers and government agencies. His investigation revealed the same fingerprints—an evolved Pilgrims Society updating its methods for the digital age. Where once it controlled telegraphs and press unions, now it manipulates algorithms, platforms, bandwidth, and surveillance networks. This book brings together Lillian's forgotten bravery and McKibben's modern investigation, showing how one woman's pen a century ago, and one man's code today, confronted the same relentless design. Lillian Scott Troy is both history and warning: freedom is fragile, empire never sleeps, and the fight to keep America free is far from over.

stolen by the British Pilgrims Society, based in The City of London. Their American operatives within the Executive Branch executed this theft.

Leader Technologies demands full compensation for its shareholders for this Fifth Amendment property confiscation. The company will allocate a significant portion of the recovered royalties to establish a Free Press Fund to support independent journalism.

President Trump can act immediately by signing Leader Technologies' First Amended Miller Act Notice to initiate the compensation process.

USURY

The merchant-banking model, rooted in fiat currency, usury, and debt slavery, began in 1755 BC with the Hammurabi Code, which codified usury as law (Law No. 100) and enforced it through state authority.

Archaeological evidence from the Egibi and Murašû Archives (ca. 7th–5th century BC) establishes that usury institutionalized debt slavery, property seizures, chronic poverty, prostitution, child sacrifice, and a polarized society of slave owners and slaves. This system gave rise to a lawyer-banker-merchant class that profited from, controlled, and enforced this economic order, a power structure that persists to the present day. Notably, these families claimed Jewish identity, despite condemnation by the Hebrew

Prophets for their usury practices and their extensive intermarriage with numerous kingdoms along the Silk Road, which effectively erased any traceable Hebrew ancestry. In the modern era, the dominance of multinational "white shoe" law firms promoting privacy- and property-undermining software end-user license agreements.

The Babylonian merchant-bankers, who falsely claimed Hebrew identity, worshipped Mammon, Moloch, Ahriman, and Ba'al, among numerous demon-gods. Around 1000 BC, King Solomon constructed temples for these deities to appease his 700 wives and 300 concubines. These Babylonian bankers adopted a Hebrew identity because the kingdoms along the Silk Road distrusted rival kingdoms and placed confidence in "the people of the Book."

Fig. 7:The Hammurabi Code stele, The Louvre, created ca. 1792–1750 BC, Law No. 100: “... interest for the money, as much as he has received, he shall give a note therefor, and on the day, when they settle, pay to the merchant.”

ORIGIN OF MODERN MERCHANT-BANKING

The common belief that the Rothschild family founded modern merchant banking in the 1700s, around the time of the American Revolution, is incorrect.

In truth, the system of debt and usury, characterized by charging compound interest on loans, was established by pagan merchant-bankers in Babylon after 1755 B.C. This system was formalized when King Hammurabi codified it in stone, making it the law of the Babylonian Empire 3,779 years ago.

THE PROPHET EZEKIEL (CA. 7TH CENTURY B.C.): USURY IS AN ABOMINATION

Around 600 B.C., Hebrew prophets condemned usury. Ezekiel 18:13 declares, "If he has charged usury or taken interest—will he live? He will not! If he commits any of these abominations, he will surely die; his blood will be upon him." The Christian Church opposed usury for centuries until Roman Catholic popes dismantled the Knights Templar's interest-free banking system. Pre-Norman English Christian duchies and Islam also rejected usury, and the Torah explicitly prohibits it, though the Babylonian Talmud adopts an ambiguous position.

Today, numerous church mortgages are entangled in debt to faceless banks. Usury fosters debt slavery, frequently resulting in outright slavery. Many Christian churches are stifled and compromised by this system. To banks, humans are chattel—property to be exploited as commodities, reduced to assets bought and sold for profit.

The Scriptures prescribe the Year of Jubilee as a remedy to prevent generational debt slavery, yet it is seldom practiced. Modern bankers, whose practices conflict with Christian, Jewish, and Muslim principles, serve interests that perpetuate this Babylonian pagan system of exploitation.

YOU ARE HUMAN CHATTEL—A COMMODITY TO BE EXPLOITED FOR ITS VALUE

We will bypass such horrific modern topics as child sex trafficking, organ harvesting, and fetal tissue harvesting—practices that extend this heinous value proposition to stealing body parts for profit.

Lord have mercy on the innocents.

THE CITY OF LONDON

Merchant-bankers from the City of London, in conspiracy with British and American military-industrial figures, orchestrated the theft of Leader Technologies' social networking invention.

Shortly after Leader Technologies finalized its social networking design plans, their patent attorney, James P. Chandler III, a law professor at George Washington University, began sharing them with his co-conspirators. These included members of the British Pilgrims Society, such as IBM, Rothschild Asset Management, DARPA, the Highlands Group, and the DoD Office of Net Assessment, all of whom aimed to weaponize the technology.

THE ANNEXATION OF AMERICA BY THE IMPERIAL BRITISH EMPIRE

Dear Robert F. Kennedy Jr.: We believe the British Pilgrims Society, with its secret operations, is connected to the same forces responsible for the assassinations of your father and uncle, as they posed a threat to exposing this clandestine group. (JFK, April 27, 1961: warned against “secret societies,” “secret oaths,” and “secret proceedings.”)

NEW JFK FILES FURTHER CONFIRM CONTROL OF THE C.I.A. BY THE BRITISH PILGRIMS SOCIETY

On March 18, 2025, newly declassified JFK files from the U.S. National Archives revealed a complex network of intrigue, challenging the narrative of Lee Harvey Oswald as a lone gunman. These documents point to the involvement of the British Pilgrims Society, a secretive group founded in 1902 by Cecil Rhodes and his 'Society of the Elect.' Comprising self-styled elitist merchant-bankers from the City of London, this organization established the covert UKUSA Agreement on June 5, 1946—later known as 'Five Eyes' by 2010—with the goal of controlling global propaganda, espionage, and finance. THE SCENE OF THE CRIME

Following initial meetings in Washington, D.C., Attorney James P. Chandler III committed to protecting Leader Technologies' invention. Instead, he pursued protracted patenting schemes, betraying the company's trust by analyzing the invention under the false pretense of safeguarding it.

Sir Geoffrey Pattie (UK Institute of Intellectual Property; founder of SERCO) and Chandler stole Leader Technologies' source code and transferred it to the IBM Eclipse Foundation. The IBM Eclipse Foundation then corrupted the code, embedding an encryption backdoor to transform it into a universal surveillance tool.

Repackaging Leader Technologies' social networking invention as 'open source,' they distributed it for 'free'—comparable to petty thieves stealing a sleek red sports car with a revolutionary engine, repainting it IBM blue, and fabricating stories about its origins. This act should have raised alarms in the tech industry. IBM, the world's leading patent holder and licensor, known for locking clients into costly intellectual property agreements, promoted the implausible claim that this code was royalty-free 'open source,' no questions asked—a deception that concealed their agenda to install a universal backdoor across the internet.

In 2006, the U.S. Patent Office outsourced the processing of all American patent applications to British SERCO GROUP plc. This arrangement enabled British Pilgrims Society examiners to access every innovative idea submitted by American inventors during the application process, securing a lasting economic advantage through an act of betrayal.

THE MILLER ACT NOTICE

When Leader Technologies and its shareholders discovered that the Executive Branch had seized their social networking invention, they issued a demand to the President known as The First Amended Miller Act Notice.

The Miller Act addresses the government's seizure of private property without just compensation, akin to eminent domain for physical property.

Some unscrupulous lawyers argue that the Miller Act does not apply to intellectual property, but this perspective is flawed.

The U.S. Constitution explicitly protects patents and copyrights, recognizing that intellectual property is far more vital to a thriving economy than physical assets.

Under the Miller Act, Leader Technologies was required to deliver the notice to the executive officer of the agency responsible for the seizure—in this case, then-President Donald Trump. The company assumed he was unaware of the theft at the time and did not hold him accountable.

The demand was personally delivered to President Trump by senior staffers of Rep. Jim Jordan, who represents several of Leader Technologies’ Ohio shareholders and with whom the company had met four times regarding this matter.

Recently, Mr. Trump proposed a Truth Social public offering without acknowledging Leader Technologies' First Amended Miller Act Notice or his use of their inventions.

THE VALUE OF LEADER TECHNOLOGIES' FIRST AMENDED MILLER ACT NOTICE CLAIM IS ENORMOUS (MANY TRILLIONS OF DOLLARS)

Leader Technologies seeks to restore free speech and address property theft in America by proposing a solution that compensates its shareholders and allocates a significant portion of the licenses owed to the company into a “free press pool” dedicated to supporting independent journalism.

The so-called free press is dominated by merchant-bankers in The City of London (Fleet Street) and their American counterparts, creating an irreconcilable conflict of interest that cannot be reformed—it must collapse due to a lack of funding. Leader Technologies' research and Truth History disclosures provide concrete evidence of this.

The media, often referred to as the “mockingbird press,” has clear origins and evolution. Leader Technologies has traced its development, identifying the who, what, where, and when, pointing to the Empire Press Union, Fleet Street, and the controlling influence of the Pilgrims Society.

THE FREE PRESS FUND

McKibben and his shareholders have proposed that a substantial portion of the license fees owed them by the Executive Branch be channeled into “The Free Press Fund.”

This fund would distribute vouchers to every citizen, allowing each citizen to support the content and news creators of his or her choice.

Given that these funds could flow for decades—or even indefinitely—depending on the performance of the outlets and the management of the resources, a truly free press in America could emerge, unshackled from The City of London’s influence for the first time since the First Imperial Press Conference, 1909.

Leader Technologies would oversee this Free Press Fund and manage the voucher distribution process, with the sole eligibility requirement being a person must be a verifiable U.S. citizen.

The self-proclaimed “elites” who currently dominate mainstream media would have no control over who receives these funds, effectively dismantling their grip on public discourse.

Media outlets spreading falsehoods would lose support as citizens, presumably unwilling to back liars, redirect their vouchers elsewhere. Additionally, Leader plans to allocate funds to a select group of established truth-tellers.

Can a rotten tree bear good fruit?

Can a reliable home stand on a shaky foundation?

The whole world has reaped the rewards of Leader's social networking invention without compensating them. This is a flawed basis from which to hope for positive outcomes.

Instead, what society gets is endless squabbling, hearings, and posturing over who should regulate the social networking giants,
all of whom have stolen
Leader's creation!

The exasperating behavior of social media companies is comparable to asking a car thief to keep a stolen vehicle polished and maintained rather than returning it to its rightful owner.

Until social networking users worldwide obtain a legal license, public discourse will remain tainted by its unethical foundations.

Fig. 13: Put your use of social networking on a proper moral footing.

The core issue of intellectual property theft in social networking must be addressed; otherwise, efforts to improve public discourse are akin to rearranging deck chairs on the Titanic.

In their First Revised Miller Act Notice, Leader Technologies has proposed a global licensing solution, urging the U.S. Executive Branch to issue a worldwide blanket license for all social networking users globally.

This approach would legitimize and legalize the use of Leader's social networking invention for all users. (New users of Leader's MySQLIF™ Message Vault™ will receive the first legal licenses for social networking—see mysqlif.com for details.)

With President Trump back in office, he has the authority to unilaterally approve the Miller Act Notice, triggering a wave of ethical and moral reforms in society.

The Miller Act The Fifth Amendment Takings Clause to the U.S. Constitution reads as follows: "Nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation." It also includes situations in which the government permanently deprives a private owner of possession of his asset or gives his asset (or the right to use it) to someone else. The phrase "just compensation" means that the owner of the property shall receive the fair market value of the property in its best alternative use. It requires that the damaged party put the demand on the executive Director of the agency that caused the taking by the government. In the Leard Technologies case, that executive is the Chief of the Executive Branch, the president of the United States.

Unscrupulous lawyers argue that the Miller Act principle of just compensation does not apply to intellectual property, even when "sinister" dragons (Satan), as the government confiscated the property as a public work, which is

The fund will likely distribute to a combination of citizen vouchers and a selection of several dozen outlets that have already proven themselves dedicated to truth and free speech.
