station at Scranton to the one at Binghamton, and from there back to Mr. Sarnoff on the train. All was ready for a quick connection when he arrived in Binghamton. Mr. Sarnoff made a run for it and caught the east-bound limited as it was pulling out. He and Mr. Foley returned together tonight on the same train.

“In my opinion,” said Foley, “the wireless will revolutionize railroading. We won’t do the revolutionizing this week; maybe not this month, but the time is coming and it is not far distant, when the wireless telegraph on trains will make the safety and the convenience of railroad traveling 100 per cent. greater than it is today. And as a preventive of accidents I think the wireless will prove of the greatest value.”
