William Newsom

San Francisco — William Newsom II, a former California judge, died on December 12, 2018, at age 84. Newsom was a prominent figure in the state's judicial system, having served as a judge for over 30 years. He was known for his integrity and his commitment to the law. Newsom was born in San Francisco and grew up in a family of public servants. He attended Stanford University and earned his law degree from the University of California, Berkeley. Newsom was admitted to the California State Bar in 1964 and began his career as a law clerk for Judge Robert F. Peck. He then worked for the state attorney general and later for the state supreme court. Newsom was elected to the bench in 1982 and served as a judge until 2002. He was known for his thoughtful and measured approach to the law. Newsom was a member of the California Judicial Branch and the National Judicial Institute. He was also a member of the San Francisco Symphony and the San Francisco Opera. Newsom was survived by his wife, Jane, and three children. He is buried in San Francisco. Newsom's death was a significant loss to the state's judicial system and to the community of San Francisco.
