Global Vision for China
Chinese Wisdom for the World

Founded in 2008 and headquartered in Beijing, the Center for China and Globalization (CCG) is China’s leading global non-governmental think tank. It has more than ten branches and overseas representatives and over 100 full-time researchers and staff engaged in research on globalization, global governance, international economy and trade, international relations and global migration.

CCG is a member of the Belt and Road Think Tank Alliance, a founding member of the US Research Think Tank Alliance established by the Ministry of Finance, a National Talent Research Facility, the site of the China International Professional Committee for Talents of the Ministry of Human Resources and Social Security, and a national Postdoctoral Programme research center. CCG has also been granted Special Consultative Status by the United Nations.

While cultivating its own research teams, CCG has also built an international research network of leading experts in China and overseas. CCG engages in ongoing research on China and globalization from an international perspective. Contributing to policies relating to development and global governance in many countries, CCG has developed into a think tank providing new ideas, innovation and perspectives for domestic and international media. CCG also plays an active role in non-governmental exchanges and Track 2 diplomacy, becoming a valuable platform to aid mutual understanding between China and the rest of the world.

After over a decade of development, CCG has grown into a significant think tank with global impact that promotes China’s globalization process. In the 2019 Global Go To Think Tank Index Report released by the University of Pennsylvania, the world’s most authoritative think tank ranking, CCG was again recognized as one of the world’s top 100 think tanks, ranking in 76th place globally. CCG was the first Chinese non-governmental think tank to achieve this feat and is consistently considered the leading Chinese non-governmental think tank in authoritative think tank evaluations at home and abroad.

CCG undertakes a number of talent-related projects commissioned by central ministries and local governments each year, as well as publishing books and reports on talent issues. Among these, the Blue Book series on international talent such as the Report on the Development of Studying Abroad in China provides much-needed contributions to the field of international talent research in China. Gathering domestic and foreign experts on talent, relevant policy makers and business leaders, CCG has created talent forums including the 50 Chinese Talents Round Table Forum, the Beijing-Tianjin-Hebei Talent Integration Development Forum and the Global Education 50 People Forum. CCG has also hosted the annual Chinese Returned Scholars Innovation and Entrepreneurship Forum of the Western Returned Scholars Association for many years.

CCG undertakes ongoing research on international migration and has set up a migration research center to carry out in-depth research and put forward suggestions on how to enhance China’s immigration system. This has seen significant results, such as the creation of the National Immigration Administration. Since 2012, CCG has published four blue book editions of China’s International Migration Report by the Social Sciences Academic Press and translated and published the World Migration Report of the International Organization for Migration (IOM). CCG has held three forums on global talent flow and international migration, serving as a high-level international conference on China’s migration system and current trends in talent flow and global migration governance.

CCG engages in ongoing research of China’s outbound and inbound investment and builds platforms for Chinese companies to share best practices in “going global.” CCG has set up a Global Chinese Entrepreneur Research Institute and publishes annual blue book reports on the globalization of Chinese enterprises and a series of books on globalization as reference for Chinese companies expanding abroad. The China Outbound-Inbound Forum, a major annual event initiated and organized by CCG, has become one of the leading platforms for discussion on how to push forward the globalization of Chinese companies.

CCG has long paid close attention to the development of China-US relations. Each year, CCG conducts research on developments in the US and carries out Track 2 diplomacy visits to exchange views with members of Congress, think tanks and the business community. CCG has held dozens of roundtable meetings and released more than a dozen reports on Sino-US relations. In 2018, CCG was selected as the founding director unit of the US Research Think Tank Alliance established by the Ministry of Finance. CCG undertakes forward-looking, policy-oriented research on the political and economic environment in the US, providing constructive policy suggestions to strengthen China-US ties.
INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS & GLOBAL GOVERNANCE

CCG is the only Chinese think tank to have been granted Special Consultative Status for non-governmental organizations by the United Nations Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC). CCG has explored new models for Chinese think tanks to participate more fully in global governance and international cooperation.

CCG initiatives to create a global alliance of talent organizations and a D50 group for international e-commerce were selected as part of the first Paris Peace Forum, offering solutions from China for global governance. CCG holds seminars on multilateral governance and regional integration at home and abroad, has led the way in promoting China’s accession to the CPTPP, and released a series of research reports.

Since 2015, CCG has held its annual signature event, the China and Globalization Forum, which focuses on China’s development and global current events, contributing to public discussion and gathering high-level experts from all sectors of government, industry and academia, to build consensus for global governance.

THINK TANK RESEARCH

As a forerunner in developing a new type of think tank with Chinese characteristics, CCG conducts in-depth research on think tanks and continuously explores new management practices to promote the innovation and growth of Chinese think tanks.

Over a decade of development, CCG has continuously explored development models suitable for Chinese think tanks and has been ranked among the top 100 think tank in the world by the Global Think Tank Report of the University of Pennsylvania for two consecutive years.

To date, CCG has published three monographs on the systematic study of think tanks, providing guidance and reference for the development of think tanks in China. To promote in-depth exchange between the Chinese think tank community, academic experts and international top think tanks, CCG established an annual signature forum, the China Global Think Tank Innovation Forum, and also created the International Top Think Tank Advanced Seminar.

THE BELT AND ROAD

CCG is a council member of the Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) think tank alliance of the International Department of the CPC Central Committee, and was noted as the most influential non-governmental think tank in the State Council Information Office’s BRI big data report. Since the BRI was proposed, CCG has continuously undertaken research on the BRI, established a BRI research institute, published a series of research reports and books on the BRI, held a series of related think tank roundtable meetings, and built a platform for communication between policymakers, academia and business in countries along the Belt and Road.

GUANGDONG, HONG KONG AND MACAU GREATER BAY AREA

Based on the development needs of talent and enterprises in the Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macao Greater Bay Area, CCG has built an international research team and expert network comprising of the Southern Institute of International Talent Research, Dongguan Institute of Talent Development, Shenzhen Branch and CCG Hong Kong Committee to put forward suggestions for the development of the Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macao Greater Bay Area.
Annual Forums and Roundtables

CCG has developed a variety of events and platforms, providing effective channels to exchange ideas between policy makers, experts, scholars, and industry leaders. CCG uses these platforms to put forward public policy recommendations and share insights for the public interest.

Each year, we hold many high-profile signature forums which are noted for their international vision and being impactful and constructive.

Each year, CCG also holds more than 100 events, including seminars, roundtables, luncheon meetings, release events for new research findings, and policy input exchange meetings.
International Engagement

CCG has established long-term cooperation with many international organizations, international think tanks and related institutions to jointly host seminars for academic exchange or to undertake joint research. These institutions include: UN International Organization for Migration (IOM), United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), International Committee of the Red Cross, Global Labor Organization, International Labor Organization, Association of Executive Search Consultants, International Metropolitan Talent Organization, World Bank, The Asian Society, European Union Chamber of Commerce, Council on Foreign Relations, Hudson Institute, American Enterprise Institute, Heritage Foundation, Center for Strategic and International Studies, Brookings Institution, Institute for Immigration Policy, Bertelsmann Foundation of Germany, the Committee of 100, Chatham House, The American Chamber of Commerce in China, the National Committee on US-China Relations, and the Canada’s Center for International Governance Innovation.

Research Outcomes

CCG has continued research in the fields of globalization, global governance, international relations, talent internationalization and the globalization of enterprises. Since its creation, CCG has published nearly 60 monographs in Chinese and English and more than 40 research reports. CCG is the institution that publishes the most blue book reports each year. To date it has published 21 Blue Books that have had an impact at home and abroad, covering topics such as enterprise globalization, international talents, and regional talent. CCG shares its research findings with the public and has distributed nearly 10,000 copies of its book reports and receives more than 270,000 website visits annually.
